DEFINING 'INCLUSIVE LEADERSHIP'

- Inclusive leadership is the capacity to manage and lead a heterogeneous group of people efficiently while creating an atmosphere where diverse perspectives are welcomed, people feel that they belong and are valued, and that everyone's opinions and contributions matter to the organization's well-being.

WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES A LEADER MAKE IN MAKING INDIVIDUALS FEEL INCLUDED.

A large, three-dimensional red graphic of the number '70' followed by a percentage symbol '%'. The graphic is rendered with a slight shadow, giving it a 3D appearance. It is centered within a white square frame.

- And this really matters because the more people feel included, the more they speak up, go the extra mile, and collaborate — all of which ultimately lifts organizational performance (HBR).

WHAT PROPORTION OF LEADERS TODAY COULD BE CLASSIFIED AS INCLUSIVE LEADERS.

- Demand for inclusive leadership at all levels of organizations is steadily growing, but finding these leaders is another matter.

WHY LEADERS DON'T TAKE OWNERSHIP OF DEI

- Non-awareness / Non-acknowledgement – not being aware, or admitting, that a problem exists, or improvement can be made
- Overriding Priorities – other personal and organizational priorities require greater attention
- Psychological standing – a sense of not having skin in the game – the sense that is irreverent to them or not their place to get involved.
- Deferment –believing that others will take responsibility and act
- Fear – of doing something wrong, or being subject to consequences
- Non-Understanding – not understanding the issues, what might be done, or the impacts and consequences

Non- understanding

DIVERSITY

diversity is less about what makes people different—their race, socioeconomic status, and so on—and more about understanding, accepting and valuing those differences

EQUITY

equity is about creating fair access, opportunity, and advancement for all those different people. It's about creating a fair playing field, to use a familiar metaphor

INCLUSION

inclusion is the extent to which various team members, employees, and other people feel a sense of belonging and value within a given organizational setting

The dominant group or ideology is deferred to for decision making opportunities and promotions.

Over saturation of similarity, homogeneous culture, & simplified points of view.

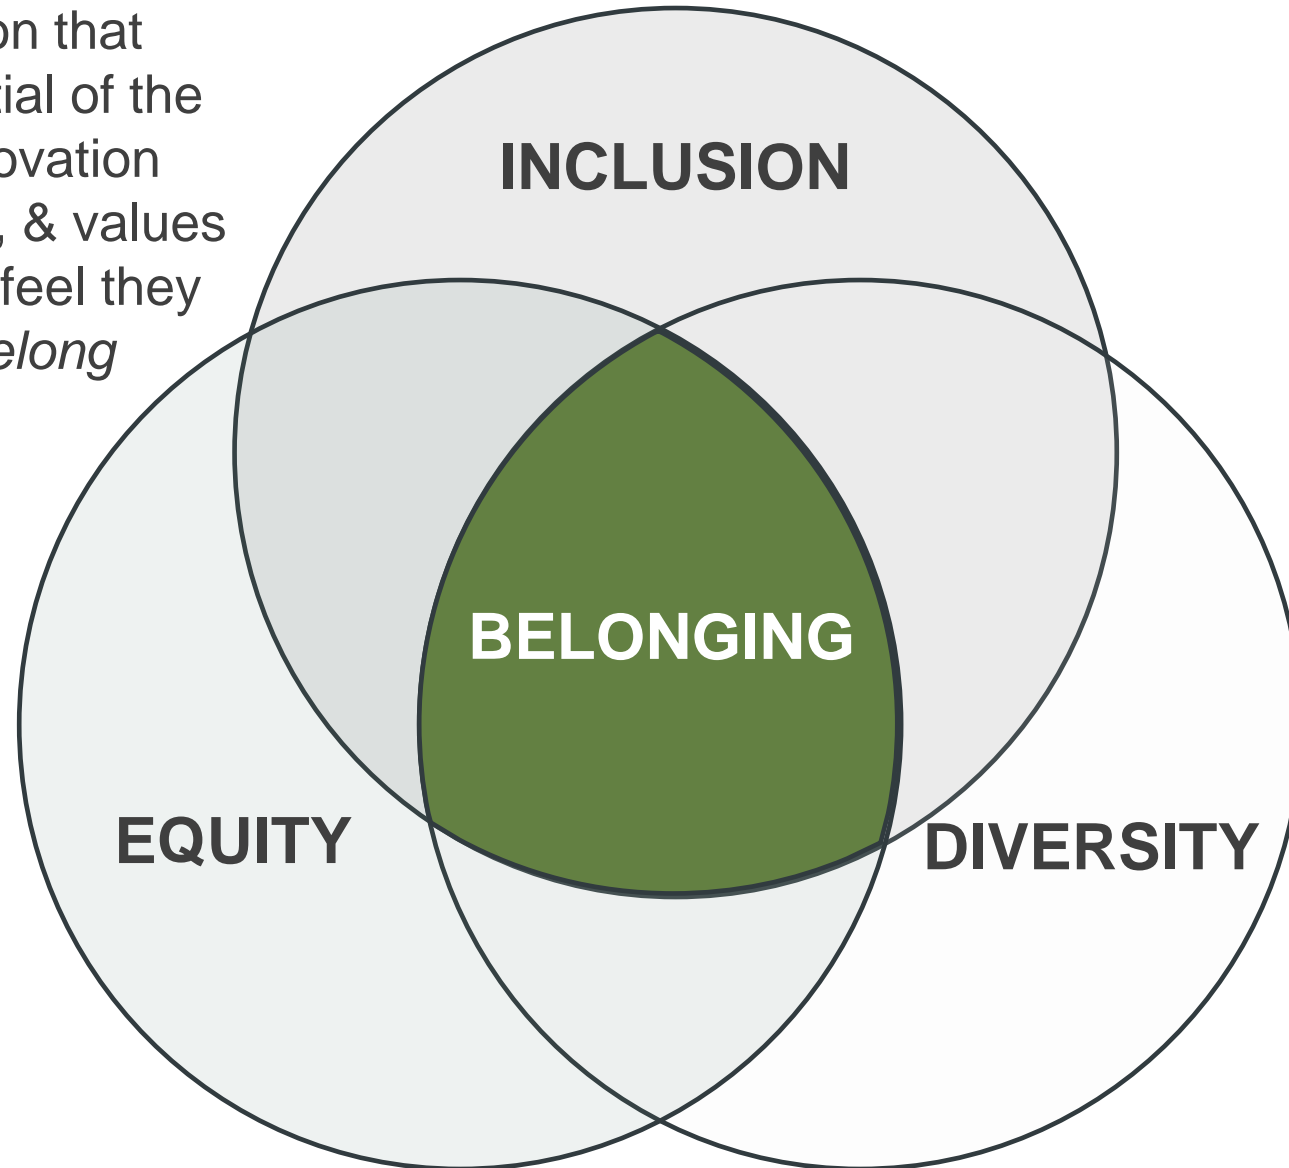

Culture assimilation results in disengagement and low retention.

Together well practiced DEI yields an organization that engages the full potential of the individual, where innovation thrives, & views, beliefs, & values are integrated. And all feel they are a part – they belong
